What is Administrative Law?

Administrative law is a specialized field within public law that oversees the functioning of government agencies, public officials, and administrative procedures. It ensures that administrative actions are carried out legally, fairly, and transparently. Unlike criminal or civil law, which primarily deal with disputes between individuals or between individuals and the state, administrative law focuses on the rules governing government decision-making processes.

In the context of Bangladesh, administrative law governs a broad spectrum of activities, including the issuance of licenses, permits, and sanctions; administrative hearings; disciplinary actions against public servants; and judicial review of administrative decisions. It acts as a check on the arbitrary use of power, ensuring that government actions align with constitutional and statutory provisions.

Historical Development of Administrative Law in Bangladesh

Bangladesh's administrative law has evolved significantly since its independence in 1971. The legal framework inherited from British India influenced its early formation, particularly the colonial-era statutes and principles.

Key milestones include:

- Constitution of Bangladesh (1972): Establishes fundamental rights and the framework for the rule of law, emphasizing accountability and the separation of powers.

constitutional and statutory standards.

- Codification of Administrative Procedures: Efforts to formalize administrative procedures, such as the Bangladesh Administrative Tribunal Rules, aimed at enhancing transparency and accountability.

Over time, Bangladesh's administrative law has been shaped by constitutional mandates, statutory provisions, and judicial interpretations, balancing governmental authority with individual rights.

The Constitutional Foundations of Administrative Law in Bangladesh

The Constitution of Bangladesh provides the primary legal foundation for administrative law, embedding core principles that guide administrative conduct.

Key constitutional provisions include:

- Article 102: Grants the High Court Division the power to judicially review administrative actions and laws that contravene the Constitution.

A cornerstone of administrative law in Bangladesh is the power of courts, especially the High Court Division, to review administrative decisions.

Judicial review serves to:

- Ensure legality of administrative acts
- Protect fundamental rights
- Rectify unlawful or unconstitutional decisions
- Enforce procedural fairness

Common grounds for judicial review include:

- Illegality: Action beyond legal authority
